Project rumble

THIS season of "Project Runway" is full of catfighting catwalkers. An insider who's seen tonight's episode says models Fatma and Vanessa get into a heated argument on camera after Fatma throws a fit when she's picked by Mitchell, a designer with dim prospects. Fatma's reaction "makes Vanessa furious," said our source. Two other "Runway" models, Erika and Ebony, fought during a press junket, "because Erika didn't want the spotlight. She got up to use the bathroom and never came back." A rep for the show responded, "Compelling reality TV doesn't always include model behavior."

Jon sticks out his neck

JON Gosselin is suddenly a big spender. The notorious father of eight was at the Stack Restaurant at The Mirage in Vegas on Monday with his mother and friends, guzzling vodka Red Bulls and pomegranate martinis and ordering half the menu. According to a spy, "When a bunch of blondes walked by his table on their way to the bar, Jon sprang up and followed them. He ended up buying them several rounds of shots." Later — without mom — Gosselin took the group to Jet nightclub, where he ordered champagne for the table. "The girls kept massaging Jon's neck and shoulders while giggling," laughs our spy. "Everyone was looking at him in awe, wondering how he was the center of attention."

Reese Witherspoon takes her son, Deacon, for a walk in Santa Monica.
